Since I took office as Commissioner on January 3, 1961, it has been my constant endeavor to improve the services rendered to the people of Florida by a reorganized and enlarged Department of Agriculture.

As I review the past 3 1/4 years, it is very gratifying to note that we have accomplished a great deal.

Demands for our services have been increasing steadily all along the line. As the State's population, business activities and agricultural enterprises grow, so does the work of the Department.

To satisfy growing demands, and fulfill all the responsibilities allotted by law to my office, has required much careful readjustment of many of our activities from time to time. Many of the steps taken have resulted in increased efficiency and operating economies without sacrifice of services rendered.

I'm proud to say that our Department personnel is most responsive to the need for adapting to new conditions as they develop. Their dedication to duty, and their efficiency in all the services we perform in the public interest, gives me confidence we shall continue to meet all of our responsibilities—to consumers, to producers and to the vast complex of enterprises making up our agribusiness economy.

The fact that mine will be the only name for Commissioner of Agriculture on the ballot in the next election I consider an expression of confidence in my administration of this important office.

Grateful, therefore, that I have the opportunity to continue serving the people of Florida as Commissioner, and as a member of the State Cabinet.

As I said, much has been accomplished, but a great deal remains to be done in the years ahead. I'm looking forward to continuing an active participation in the progress of Florida, in conduct of the State's business by the Cabinet and in the administration of the Department of Agriculture.

Graded feeder pigs sales, which made a modest bow in Florida with two events at auction markets in 1962, are proving to be successful and are winning increased interest of the swine industry.

Said one North Florida hog farmer recently: "I've made more money in the past year with feeder pigs than I've ever made in any year I've been in the hog business."

He pointed out there's a big saving in time and feed costs if he brings his pigs up to feeder weights of 70 to 90 pounds. That takes about 11 to 15 weeks. Also, he can use more sows and consequently raise more pigs.

Previously he had been carrying all the litters up to market weights averaging 200 pounds. It takes about 22 to 25 weeks to do that.

Graded feeder pig sale prices in 1962 ran about $4 a hundredweight over the average for the two top grades. With prices lower in 1963, top graded pigs still brought $2 to $4 above the average. There were 9 sales that year.

This year 14 graded sales have been scheduled and top pigs in the sales to date again are bringing prices materially above the average. Now the Florida Feeder Pig Sales committee, of which John Stiles, chief of our Marketing Bureau, is secretary-treasurer, is studying the feasibility of inaugurating a telephone-bidding service for the convenience of buyers.

Campbell Talks To County Voters

"Palm Beach County taxpayers cannot afford to support 'dead wood' or patronage personnel, who are mentally or physically incompetent, within the school superintendents' office," superintendent candidate Martin V. Campbell this week told an audience of county freeholders.

"If I am elected, I will expect to find the resignation of every member of the superintendent's Administrative and Supervisory staff, effective within 30 days on my desk the moment I take office. These resignations will be recommended to the School Board for acceptance or rejection on the basis of the value of the individuals to the school system," he said. "Money, in the tens of thousands of dollars, that is today being spent on personnel 'super-cargo' can be better used to improve the overall quality of the county's education facilities for our boys and girls," Campbell continued. Many badly needed supervisory services not now available could be effected through studied change and even abolishing some positions, if necessary, that are "excess fat" and of very little, if any value whatever.

The candidate, who was formerly superintendent of schools in a large Alabama county, cited several other areas of economic administration which he says could improve Palm Beach County's education picture.

Campbell, presently principal at Bonita Beach Elementary School, faces Robert Fulton, John MacDonald and Ed Eissey in the May 5 Democratic Primary.

Promotion For Sale Fresh Oranges

LAKELAND—The biggest promotion of Florida fresh oranges since the 1962 freeze will be staged by the Florida Citrus Commission between April 1 and April 11.

Object of the promotion is a vintage crop of Valencia oranges which will be reaching peak quality during that time, according to Homer E. Hooks, commission general manager.

Two issues of the Saturday Evening Post will carry four-color fresh orange advertisements. Commercials will also be seen on "Queen For a Day" and "The Price is Right" daytime television shows. Two color advertisements will also run in leading newspapers covering the nation's principal fresh orange markets.

"Our field representatives have been busy on this promotion for several weeks," Hooks explained. "The results of their many contacts with the food trade have been excellent and there is every indication that this promotion will receive wholehearted cooperation from these factors. The commission has ready a wide array of new and colorful display pieces which will emphasize the fact that Valencia oranges are thin skinned, 'juicier and seedless—all prime requisites for fresh oranges."

Spending By Law Watched By Adams

TALLAHASSEE—Secretary of State Tom Adams got tough with candidates for governor of Florida concerning their meeting the requirements of the state law on spending and contributions.

Adams refused to accept the financial reports of five candidates. They are Scott Kelly of Lakeland, Fred O. Dickinson of West Palm Beach, Mayor Haydon Burns of Jacksonville, Fred Karl of Daytona Beach and Charles Holley of St. Petersburg.

The Secretary of State said that addresses of some contributions were not complete enough to meet the law's requirements. The response was almost instantaneous and within a couple of hours representatives of the candidates had promised to make corrections.

Florida's law requires candidates to show where their campaign money came from and how it was spent.

John Rybovich, Jr. For Port Commissioner

John Rybovich, Jr., member of a well known boat building firm in West Palm Beach established during the pioneer days of the area, has filed as a candidate for Port of Palm Beach Commission, District Two, Group One.

Rybovich, a Democrat, said he entered the Port Commission race with a strong belief that many residents of the district are not satisfied with the manner in which the Port of Palm Beach is being operated nor the lines that have been drawn concerning administrative policies for the port.

Rybovich said he favors retention of Peanut Island for public recreation; is opposed to widening and deepening the Palm Beach Inlet; is opposed to further expensive expansion of port facilities; favors a cut in operating costs to bring about a cut in district taxes; believes that the state auditor should be called in for a check of port books as opposed to present policy of hiring private firms to make closed audits.

"Job protection is the only way to assure the county of trained, loyal and satisfied personnel in this very important branch of government," Brown declared; "and in-service training presents the opportunity for all employees to advance and improve their status."

WILLIAM G. HOBBS

Bill Hobbs Running Port Commissioner

Seeking nomination for Port of Palm Beach Commission, District Two, Group Two which is the western section of the port district, is William G. "Bill" Hobbs, West Palm Beach yacht broker.

Hobbs, a native of New Jersey, has been a Palm Beach County resident for 20 years—the past 14 operating his own business.

He has long been associated with waterways, boating, harbor operation and conservation of natural resources. He is a past chairman of the West Palm Beach Waterfront Committee and served during the period when the WPB Marina was rehabilitated and placed on a paying basis.

Andy Andrews For P. B. County Board

Leamon "Andy" Andrews this week announced that he will be a candidate in the May 5 primary election for County Commissioner, representing District 3.

A Lake Worth businessman and civic worker for the past 20 years, Andrews opened his campaign by calling on Palm Beach County Democrats to examine his record of "two decades of selfless service to my city and county" in considering his candidacy.

A strong advocate of equitable expenditure of tax revenues in all parts of the county, Andrews is campaigning on a pledge of real and fair representation for all the residents of Palm Beach County. Convinced that county affairs should be administered in a business-like manner, Andrews offers his 20 year record as owner-manager of a successful automobile dealership, tire distributorship and service station in Lake Worth as clear evidence of his abilities in efficient business administration. He was one of the organizing directors of the Commerce National Bank in Lake Worth, and still serves as a director of the bank.

In civic and fraternal affairs Andrews has compiled an enviable record of service. He has twice received the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award. His name was entered in the Exchange Club "Book of Golden Deeds" in 1955 for outstanding community service. He was named outstanding "Trojan Booster" in 1957.

He was a charter member and first president of Lake Worth Exchange Club. In 1956, Andrews served as president of Florida State Exchange Club. He was a charter member of the Lake Worth Junior Chamber of Commerce, and he is now in his eighth year as a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army.

Andrews was chairman and master of ceremonies for the Lake Worth Chamber of Commerce "Coffee Hour" for a period of nine years. He is presently vice-chairman of the civil service commission of the city of Lake Worth, and he was formerly a member of the city employees retirement board. A past president of the Lake Worth Chamber of Commerce, he served as a director of that body for nine years.

With his wife Betty and daughters Jeanne, Mary Jane, and Joanne, Andrews is a member of Calvary Methodist Church in Lake Worth.

Let Your Money Earn 4 1/2% Payable Semi-Annual

New 3 3/4% interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new 3 3/4% interest rate benefit me?
A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to 2 3/4% for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra 3/4% from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic 3/4% increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this. You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and for science. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.
